Part B. Free Summary of CV (Max. of 3.500 characters, including spaces)

My scientific career started in 1982, focused since the beginning in the fields of environmental radioactivity, radiation detectors for environmental measurements and radiological protection: I did my doctoral thesis in Pb-210 dating of sediment cores and peats (finished in 1987), doing afterwards in the coming years contributions in the fields of gamma-ray spectrometry, alpha-particle spectrometry and liquid scintillation counting between others centering the interest in Natural radioactivity and in the evaluation of the occupational and environmental radiological impact of NORM industries. In relation with this NORM activities, I have acted as an external expert in missions of the IAEA to Túnez, Jordania, Siria and Brazil, and I have contributed to the drafting of several safety reports and safety guide of the IAEA.

More recently I have done some contributions in the study of the radioactive impact in the south of Spain and in the Pacific Ocean generated by the releases and emissions of artificial radionuclides associated to the Fukushima accident and I have done some original contributions in the evaluation and characterization of the remaining terrestrial contamination due to the Palomares accident using for that physical techniques not conventional in the field of environmental radioactivity. Also I have performed several environmental applications by using accelerator mass spectrometry and I have used accelerator of charged particles for the characterization of environmental samples

Since 2009 my scientific career has been complemented with scientific/administration responsibilities in the National Accelerator Centre (CAN). During 8 years I have been Vice-Director of the Centre and during the last 10 years I am the responsible of the irradiation unit. Of CAN. I am coordinating the efforts of the scientific team supporting this application,

All my research activities during 35 years are reflected in the participation of 12 national projects, in 10 European projects, and other projects financed by the regional government, Consejo de Seguridad Nuclear, CIEMAT, ENRESA, etc. Co-author of more than 190 papers in international journals and more than 250 communications to congress and symposia. I have been the supervisor of 16 PhD thesis and the main organizer of three international conferences: Recently, I have been the IP by the University of Seville in the European project COMET (2015-2017) and the IP in the national projects MINECO FIS2015-69673-P(2015-2018).

I have performed a scientific stay of 15 months in the University of Uppsala (Sweden) and of 2 months in National Institute of Radiological Sciences (Japan). I have given invited lectures in: Atomic Energy Commission of Syria, Finnish Centre for Radiation and Nuclear Safety, Low-level Radioactivity Laboratory, Kanazawa University, (Japan), Universidad de Guanajuato, México, Instituto Tecnológico Nuclear, Sacavem (Portugal), IAEA, Vienna and several Spanish universities.

Since November 2018 I am the Director of Centro Nacional de Aceleradores
